

A black and white illustration featuring a bull on the left and a bear on the right, both standing on their hind legs and facing each other. The bull is depicted in silhouette with its horns curved upwards. The bear is shown in white with black outlines and a black collar. In the center of the image, the text "WE DIDN'T START THE FIRE" is written in a large, bold, serif font, arranged in four lines. The background consists of faint, light-colored geometric shapes, possibly representing a map or abstract patterns.
